

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, September 15. 17e8.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Sept. 15.

Rome, August 18.

THE 12th of this Month Count Marfigli, Major General of the Arms of the Church, distributed to the Companies of the new Levies the Colours which had been blest'd. The Levies are continued with great Diligence, and Commissions are given out to divers Officers, among others Don Federico Colonna and M. Domenico Serlupi are made Collonels. Several Subaltern Officers are also nominated; and those who have already serv'd, are prefer'd to others. It has been propos'd in a Congregation of State: to give Arms to the Peasants of the Bolognese and the Ferrareze, with Order to defend themselves against the Hostilities of the Germans which they have endur'd a long time, with such Patience as has serv'd only to increase their Vexations. 'Tis not yet known what was resolv'd upon this Proposition; but some Cardinals represented that in the present Juncture Hostilities should not be begun, till Measures were taken to be in a Condition to repel them. In the mean time the Imperial Ministers declare, that they think of nothing less than of attacking the Territories of the Church, and that the Emperour is dispos'd to give the Pope all Satisfaction, notwithstanding the German Troops fortify Comacchio and other Posts of which they have taken Possession, and appear no way inclin'd to evacuate them as his Holiness has demanded as a Preliminary. 'Tis reported however, that the Marquis de Prie the Emperour's Commissary is to come hither, and that he will be admitted to make such Proposals as he is commission'd to offer. The 15th being the Festival of the Assumption of the Virgin, the Pope went in Solemn Cavalcade to the Church of St. Mary Major and held a Chappel. He was receiv'd there by Cardinal Othoboni Arch-Priest of that Church, and assisted at the Celebration of Mass. They write from Naples, that the scarcity of Corn continues there, notwithstanding the effectual Measures which were thought to be taken for the safe Transportation of Corn thither from Apulia and Calabria. The Chevalier Pallavicino who had undertaken to convoy the Vessels which should come from thence, with 3 Ships and some arm'd Barks; and for which Service a Duty was allow'd him on every Measure of Corn, is in the Port of Reggio in Calabria, not daring to come out, because he had Advice that the Squadron of Messina had been reinforc'd by some Gallies. He has dispatch'd an Express to Naples, to desire a Reinforcement, and this Delay augments the Scarcity still, the more because the Harvest has been very indifferent throughout the Kingdom.

Madrid, Aug. 28. The 25th of this Month, on which Day the Prince of Asturias enter'd into his Second Year, the Grantees and the Councils kiss'd the King's and Queen's Hands, and there were Rejoycings and a great Entertainment at Buen-Retiro. By the last Letters from Catalonia we have an Account, that the 13th Instant some of the Enemy's Squadrons march'd towards Belpuch and Villa-Grafia: Captain Don Vicente Fuenbuena with the Pilgrims of the Regiments of the Queen and of new Rouffillon, march'd against them, and they immediately retir'd. A Party of the Regiment of Lançarote defeated a Party of the Enemy of 130 Men and 80 Miquelets near Camaras; 66 of the Enemy were kill'd, among them 5 Officers, and 50 were made Prisoners. The 15th the Duke of Orleans caus'd a Forrage to be made in the Neighbourhood of Pons: He went 4 Leagues from the Camp to view the Ground, and return'd in the Evening. Letters from Valencia of the 21st relate that Don Carlos Sucre Governour of Pedreguer, and Collonel of the old Regiment of the Orders, being inform'd that the Garrison of Denia had made a Detachment of 600 Men to fall upon a Convoy, march'd to meet them with 150 Carabineers, attack'd them notwithstanding the odds of Number, and drove them to the Gates of Denia, after having kill'd or taken 50 of their Men, among whom was the commanding Officer.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 18.

Genoa, Sept. 2. The 28th of last Month an Express arriv'd from Barcelona with Letters dated from thence the 23d of August, importing, that the two Armies in Catalonia were within 2 Leagues of each other; namely that of the Allies at Cervera, and that of the two Crowns at Agramunt where they are strongly intrench'd: and that General Stremberg design'd to approach nearer to the Enemy within 3 Days. The same Express brought a Confirmation that Sardinia has submitted to King Charles; and that just when he left Barcelona a Felucca arriv'd which had been dispatch'd with that News from Admiral Leake.

From the Elector of Hanover's Camp at Muhlberg, Sept. 11. His Electoral Highness continues still at Hockenheim, taking the Diversion of Hunting. The Generals de la Tour and Mercy continue near Landau with 8 Regiments of Horse; and 'tis confirm'd that the Enemy's Army have retir'd unmolested behind their Lines on the Lutter; our Detachment from Landau not being able to charge their Rear-guard. We have no Account yet, that the Enemy have made any new Detachment for Flanders; but according to the Report of Deserters, some of their Battallions and Squadrons have Order to hold themselves ready to march thither; which if they do, 12 Squadrons of Horse, 1 Regiment of Dragoons, and 1 of Foot, will be sent thither from our Army.

London, Sept. 15.

Yesterday came Advice, that the Squadron of Men of War with the Transports having on board Land-Forces, which sail'd from the Downes on Thursday last, arriv'd on Friday Night at Ostend; and the Forces were to land there the next Morning.

Late last Night arriv'd the Mail from Holland of Friday last.

Milan, Sept. 8. The last Letters from Genoa give a repeated Confirmation of the taking of Cagliari the Capital of Sardinia, but not the Reduction of the whole Island. They tell us, that the Count de Cifuentes has detach'd some Forces towards the other Places of the Island, to oblige them to follow the Example of Cagliari; and that Admiral Leake waits only for that, before he sets Sail for Palermo; where 'tis said the Inhabitants have already declar'd for King Charles, and keep their Viceroy confin'd as a Prisoner.

Naples, Aug. 28. 3 Feluccas are dispatch'd from hence to Admiral Leake at Sardinia; to learn the Success of his Expedition thither, and what Time his Fleet may come hither: A Fund of 600000 Ducats is provided for the Enterprize against Sicily.

'Tis advis'd by this Mail, that the French Army were encamp'd between Tournay and Audenarde, and the Allies under the Duke of Marlborough at Lannoy observing them: And that the Siege of Lifle is carry'd on diligently. The Count de la Mothe is is return'd with his Detachment to Ghent : General Murray is arriv'd with a Body of Forces at Brussels.
